GROWTH AND INNOVATION

The Amadori story starts in Romagna in the 1930s, with the poultry and farmyard animal trade, and continues to this day characterised by on-going growth and innovation. Officially established in 1969, Amadori is now a leading group in the Italian agrifood sector. A poultry specialist from the outset, it is now expanding its product portfolio to include the entire protein spectrum: white, pink and green.

A sector leader in terms of quality, safety and range differentiation, Amadori distinguishes itself by its integrated management supply chain and can count on the work of more than 9,000 staff, all of them in Italy.

AMADORI TODAY

-  6 processing and production facilities
-  5 hatcheries
-  4 feed facilities (plus one contract manufacturing facility)
-  primary logistics platforms
-  19 branches and agencies throughout Italy
-  more than 800 direct-managed and affiliated rearing facilities
-  more than 9,000 workers

CUSTOMERS ARE KEY

Satisfied customers make for strong, healthy companies. This means their needs are always front and centre of our operations. We work across a number of different channels, from supermarkets and large-scale organised distribution to traditional retail, the food service industry, wholesale and export trade, each of which have different requirements in terms of products, service and logistics. We put every effort into turning our commercial relationships into veritable business partnerships.

The broad range we have developed includes unique specialities like Il Campese, a line of free-range chicken reared outdoors with no antibiotics and with almost no direct competitors, and other products and ready meals that meet the needs of contemporary consumers who value quality, service and variety, and not just price when they're looking for menu ideas.

At the commercial, industrial and logistical level, our organisation structure allows us to deliver our products to the greatest number of sales outlets in the shortest time and under the best conditions, even on the same day.

This is the only way to safeguard the goodness and freshness of products with a short shelf-life and make sure consumers recognize these qualities and want to buy them again in the future, seeing Amadori as a guarantee in the Italian poultry sector.

This commitment has always paid off, earning us the respect of our current partners and gaining new ones every year, driving us not only to uphold our operating standards but also to improve them.

A full range of fresh, carefully inspected Italian eggs from Amadori farms: fresh and extra-fresh, free-range, and in pourable cartons. Amadori also markets organic eggs from qualified suppliers. 100% Italian, fresh and genuine: it's stated on every shell. Our eggs have the contour of Italy printed on their shell in order to ensure the utmost level of transparency and safety. The origin from the integrated production Supply Chain also guarantees their quality, thanks to the certified traceability system UNI EN ISO 22005:2008.

ILLUSTRATION OF ANATOMICAL CUTS

The forequarter and hindquarter split is between ribs 5 and 6.

Amadori also supplies red meat. A full range of fresh, vacuum-packed meat that can be selected by type, origin and cut. The assortment includes products from the most prized meat-producing nations (Italy, Ireland, Argentina, Scotland, Denmark, Austria, Germany and Poland). Much care and dedication goes into the choice of meats, which Amadori then follows every step of the way, packaging them in the place of slaughter or in specialist food processing plants.

BONELESS SHANK / RUMP

The rump heart is the section continuing off the loin. It is one of the more noble leg cuts. It is used for:

- Pot roasts, stews, roast beef :
- Grilled steak
- Oven roasts.

An inexperienced chef with a good imagination could come up with a million things to do with a rump.

KNUCKLE / TOPSIDE

Its bony anatomical base is the entire length of the thigh bone and the distal end of the kneecap.

It is a prime cut and can be cooked in a variety of ways, either boiled or braised, in pot roasts and stewed “cacciatora” style. It provides excellent steaks and cutlets.

The primary cooking method is as a casserole with plenty liquid, preferably wine or beer.

Knuckle

This cut fully occupies the inner thigh area and is almost triangular and/or round in shape.

In terms of prize cuts, it rates with the rump: this makes it ideal for a wide range of uses.

The topside can be used for a classic steak or cutlet.

It is also perfect for breaded cutlets and all types of oven cooking.

MISTER MEAT

This cut occupies the hind section of the leg.

To locate it, slice into the space between the muscles between the topside and silverside.

It is a prize cut which is ideal for cutlets and roast beef in particular.

An untrained or inexperienced eye may mistake a well-served portion for a fillet steak.

Eye of round

EYE OF ROUND / SILVERSIDE

This cut occupies the lateral or posterior region of the leg.

It is rectangular in shape and is assessed in terms of the height, species and age of the animal.

It is not a gristly cut (like muscles) but it is not very tender.

Cross cuts are used for cutlets, steaks, roast beef, pot roasts, stews and roasts.

PICANHA (TOP SIRLOIN CAP) TAIL OF RUMP

The Picanha cut is popular in Brazil, and is known as the top sirloin cap. It normally weighs 1-1.1kg and is triangular in shape with a 1cm-layer of fat on one side.

Picanha

It is cut from the back of the animal, right under the knuckle, and is ideal for meatloaf, stew, roast or rolled beef.

Tail of rump

MISTER MEAT

In anatomical terms, this is the part of the animal that produces movement.

This muscle is normally boiled due to the very thin layer of connective bone between one muscle and another (also called “osso buco”) which makes this cut especially tasty.

The shank can be boiled, stewed, used in pot roasts or braised: cooking in this way is very economical, as adding mashed potatoes or polenta to the sauce significantly increases the portion sizes or numbers.

BACK SHANK HEEL MUSCLE OR HEEL / LOIN

This is from the hind quarter of the animal, near the leg. It is made up of a group of muscles and is highly regarded in culinary terms.

To locate it, find the Achilles tendon and separate the muscle mass that partly surrounds the posterior section of the shin bone.

This cut can be cut in a specific way into steaks.

It is very good when cooked in liquid: stews, pot roasts, braised and all types of casserole.

It is also a good cut to prepare by boiling.

Heel muscle

This cut can be easily recognized in its natural form.

The traditional “Florentine “ is a beefsteak with an inverted T-shaped bone that must always include the tenderloin steak.

This steak is normally thick, not beaten and cooked on cooling open coals.

The meat should only be salted after blood has started to ripple from the meat; turn once and do not cook in sauce.

If the bone has been removed, then it is okay to cook in sauce.

Carvery rib or Beef Rib

This cut can be easily recognized in its natural form. When the vertebrae and ribs (6/8) are present, the cut is called Beef Rib.

This steak is normally thick, not beaten and cooked on cooling open coals.

The meat should only be salted after blood has started to ripple from the meat; turn once and do not cook in sauce.

If the bone has been removed, then the meat can be cooked in any sauce.

ENTRECOTE OR CUBE ROLL / FILLET

This meat comes from the lumbosacral region: the posterior part (head) lies next to the rump, the middle (body) and front (tail) parts lie below the vertebrae of the lower back and spine.

It is one of the most popular cuts and therefore the most expensive.

In Italy, the request for fillet steak outweighs the actual quantity that can be produced; an average steer or heifer gives no more than two fillets, equalling no more than 5/6kg of beef.

Shoulder

The shoulder is made up of various cuts:

- LMC: used for steaks, escalopes and braised beef
- Chuck tender: prepared by boiling or in pot roasts
- Trimmed feather blade: always boiled and served with green vegetable sauce.
- Shoulder muscle: prepared by boiling or in pot roasts
- Shin: prepared by boiling or in stews.

Generally, this cut is almost parallelepiped in shape.

It is located between the end of the loin and the connection to the head (occipital).

It includes the neck or chuck roll.

The meat is extremely tasty and in Italian, is called the "chef's bite": it is prepared by boiling or in pot roasts, or minced for use in a tasty meat sauce.

Boneless steaks can be cut from the chuck roll, to be grilled or baked in foil.

Corte Antica

The quality and flavours of Corte Antica cured meats come from Italy's age-old tradition of making good food, which spans from the careful selection of the meats to the full control and certification of farms. The ingredients are those used in traditional delicatessens, the recipes the same as those passed down from rural culture, and likewise the care taken in each step of the production process. A variety of mouth-watering foods, guaranteed by Amadori's experience.
